On May 30, 2018, Akers Biosciences, Inc. (the “Company”) issued a press release announcing that the Listing Qualifications Department of the Nasdaq Stock Market (“Nasdaq”) granted the Company a 180-day extension to meet the requirement of a minimum $1.00 per share closing bid price of its common stock for 10 consecutive business days (the “Bid Price Requirement”) for continued inclusion on the Nasdaq Capital Market.

As previously disclosed, the Company received notice from Nasdaq on November 28, 2017, that it was not in compliance with the Bid Price Requirements for its common stock. Per Nasdaq rules, the Company was afforded an initial 180 calendar days to regain compliance with the Bid Price Requirement. The Company provided a written notice of its intention to cure the deficiency during the second 180 calendar day compliance period by effecting a reverse stock split, if necessary.

Following a review, Nasdaq determined that the Company was eligible for an additional 180 calendar days to regain compliance with the Bid Price Requirement. If at any time during the second 180 calendar day period the closing bid price of the Company’s common stock, for the required minimum 10 consecutive business day period, meets the Bid Price Requirement and provided that the Company meets the continued listing requirement for the market value of publicly held shares and all other initial listing standards, Nasdaq will provide the Company with written confirmation that it is compliant with the Bid Price Requirement and this matter will be closed.
